

Activating Perth – licensing opportunities Seminar

Western Australia generally and Perth particularly, have had the reputation of lacking hospitality services and facilities, particularly when it comes to licensed premises. Things are changing.

Liquor licensing laws have been amended in recent years, new small bars and other licensed venues have opened, the population is increasing, inner city living has been enhanced and the City of Perth in particular is keenly activating the City and encouraging use of underutilised spaces.

There currently are many opportunities for new hospitality businesses in Perth. Operators and owners should feel much encouraged.

Lavan Legal's liquor, hospitality and tourism team will conduct a seminar to address opportunities for new licences, particularly within the city of Perth.

The seminar will provide factual, practical and legal information as well as other advice. It will include :

- references to the enlivening of Melbourne;
- opportunities to activate spaces around Perth and the role the City of Perth can play to assist;
- issues associated with applying for new licences in the City; and
- hurdles to be overcome.

Presenters :

Dan Mossenson, Chairman of Partners, Lavan Legal Jessica Patterson, Senior Associate, Lavan Legal
Craig Smith, City Architect, City of Perth
Barry Bennett, Principal Building Surveyor, City of Perth
